

MUSEUM AS MUSE

PUBLIC READINGS AND WRITING WORKSHOP

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 15 – SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 17

D iscover the role the Palace of the Governors plays as a muse to published authors. Participate in a writing workshop and a public reading of your work!

SEPTEMBER 15, 5-7:45PM

Noted authors Michael McGarrity, Pamela Christie, Jon Bauman and Barbara Beasley Murphy will read passages from their work set in the Palace or on the Plaza. A panel discussion of the muse in their own works to follow. Palace Courtyard. Free Friday night. Open to the public.

SEPTEMBER 16, 1-4PM

Miriam Sagan, poet and director of the Creative Writing Program at the Santa Fe Community College, will lead a workshop on writing and revising a piece for public reading. Pam Smith, guest curator, will lead a tour of the Lasting Impressions exhibition. Fray Angelico Chavez History Library. Free. Registration limited to 25 people. High school age through adult.

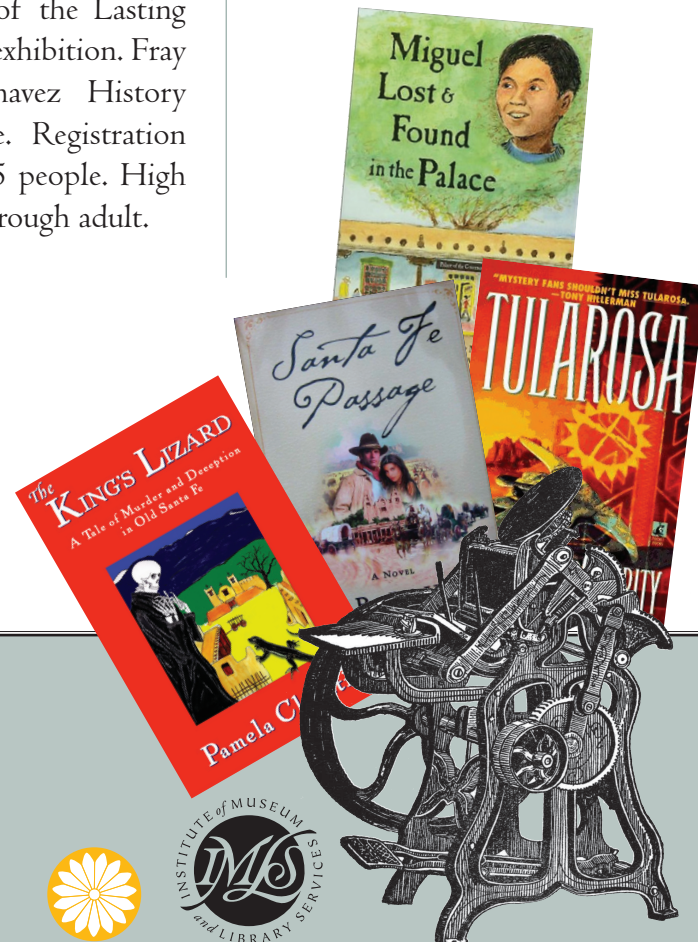

SEPTEMBER 17, 1-3PM

Public reading of pieces written in the Saturday workshop. The Palace of the Governors Courtyard.

Sundays free to New Mexico residents with ID. Open to the public.

Finished pieces using the Palace of the Governors as a muse will be published on the Palace's Web site, palaceofthegovernors.org.

Museum as Muse is a Lasting Impressions event. For more information, contact Rene Harris, 476-5087.

Palace ^{of the} Governors
The New Mexico History Museum

105 West Palace Ave, on the Plaza in downtown Santa Fe
505-476-5055 • palaceofthegovernors.org • privatepress.org

